

Dear FCC:

XM Radio provides a unique service that should not be squelched. The convenience of instant traffic and weather is a boon, and I'm not required to go jumping around the dial to find the information when I need it. It's always there, and I don't have to guess when the commercials will end and I can get the information I need.

Please do not allow the NAB to muscle its new, excellent competition.

Regards,

Ron Stanford
